MINERS' ORGANIZER IS ROBBED AND BEATEN

After Being Deprived of His Valuables J. W. Davis Is Thrown Into the River.

Williamson, W. V., March 19.—James W. Davis of Springfield, Ill., was held up by masked men near Thacker, robbed of $100 and other valuables, pounded almost into insensibility and tossed over a high bank into the Tug river, which was at low tide. The chilly waters revived Davis and he managed to keep above the surface until he floated more than half a mile, when he grasped a sunken log and succeeded in reaching shore.

Davis is a national organizer for the United Mine Workers. He has been actively engaged in the Flat top and Elkhorn fields, where he made numerous enemies among those who were opposed to organization. It is thought that murder rather than robbery was the motive for the assault. Davis is in a serious condition, his face being so badly swollen that his eyes are closed.

CHINESE READY FOR BIG PAGEANT

April 15 Has Been Set for a Visit to Western Tombs by the Empress.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Peking, March 19.—The court is preparing for the largest pageant in fifteen years when it starts for its visit to the western tombs April 5. There will be 9,000 persons in the party, exclusive of the troops, who will guard the eighty miles of railway.

Yuan-Shih-Kai, viceroy of the province of Chihli, is supervising the arrangements. He is also making preparations to attend the court for two weeks or a month at Paoing-fu and has built a palace there for the reception of the royal guests.

The people bitterly condemn the taxes that are levied on them for such purposes as this. Notwithstanding the announcement by the throne that the construction of the railway to connect the tombs with Lu Han line was for the purpose of reducing the cost of these pilgrimages, the expenditures have been multiplied.

YACHT'S PLANS WERE CORRECT

When Launching Pontoons Were Removed, the Water Reached Draft Marks.

(Special By Scripps-Mellae.)
Glasgow, March 19.—The pontoons on which Shamrock III. was launched Tuesday were removed this afternoon. The yacht afloat confirms the previous good opinions. The doubts as to whether it would turn on the excessively short keel were partially allayed in moving it about. The draft calculations were correct at both bow and stern, according to the painted water line. While in motion it was remarkable that the challenger moved smoothly and easily.

The spars have been brought from Denny's yard and will be stepped tomorrow. Mr. Flie has adopted a high narrow sail plan. The Shamrock's steel mainmast is of appreciably less diameter than any previous spar, and the gaff and boom possess the same characteristic, promising a great advantage in reducing windage.

The mainmast and topmast, which are in one, are shorter than those of Shamrock II. This decrease, which is principally in the topmast, is made up by the immense topsail yard built of hollow steel. When set this will give the desired height, with the valuable feature of not being taxed in the yacht's measurement under the New York Yacht club rules.

GIRON TURNS TO THE TRAPPISTS

He Has Become a Noviate in a Colony of That Order to Avoid Death.

Rome, March 19.—(Special).—M. Andro Giron, who eloped with Louise, crown princess of Saxony, has become a monk.

The father superior to the Order of Trappists has announced to the pope that Giron has entered the Trappist community. The explanation most generally accepted is this: The former tutor had pledged his word to the princess to marry her. Subsequent to this promise the Saxony court paid him a considerable amount of money to desert the princess, one particular stipulation being that he should never marry her. His yearning for notoriety, which the elopement gave him, being largely gratified, his cupidly was easily worked upon.

The princess, suspecting that he was about to desert her, had importuned him with such persistence that he was compelled to seek some avenue of escape that would protect him from her and at the same time leave him free from the gibes and sneers of the world.

He saw his opportunity in becoming a monk, under the garb of which he is safe from matrimony, and can be so sequestered as to be free from further communication from the princess.

Another story is that the young nobility of Saxony threatened to take his life unless he retired from the view of the world.

EXCELLENT CAST; FINE STAGING

WARDE & JAMES GAVE SHAKESPEARE'S PLAY, "THE TEMPEST."

A MOST LAVISH PRODUCTION

No Detail of Scenic Art Was Forgotten in Staging the Play.

It is safe to say that Shakespeare himself never conceived of so elaborate a production of his play, "The Tempest," as was presented at the Myers Grand last evening. From the moment the curtain went up on the roiling, surging sea with the lightning flashing in the sky and the poor mariners bewailing their fate to the moment when Prospero, once more clothed with the dukedom of his beloved Milan casts aside his magic art and dismisses his spirit Ariel, not one thing was lacking.

Supported by a strong cast of actors, Mr. Warde, as Prospero, and Mr. James, as Caliban, gave a production on interpretation of Shakespeare's lines that was more than pleasing.

Evidently the high class drama is not pleasing to the taste of Janesville people judging from the small house present. For such a production as was last night presented there should not have been a seat left, and as it was but a scattering through the house. It is not often that a road company attempts to put on one of Shakespeare's plays and but one manager has ever tried to stage "The Tempest" in America.

As Miranda, the daughter of Prospero, Miss Teresa Maxwell was more than pleasing. She was a pretty smiling innocent child of seclusion who had never beheld a human being beside her father and Caliban until the tempest came which drove her father's enemies onto the isle. Her surprise at seeing so beautiful a spirit as Ferdinand, son of the king of Naples, was most naively portrayed and when by the magic arts of Prospero she fell in love with this strange new creature, she showed all the cunning and enticing qualities of a true lover.

Norman Hackett played the part of Ferdinand, the lover. He was comely to look upon and read his lines well. He has a strong voice and while he seemed at times about to rant slightly his whole interpretation was good.

Mr. Thomas Cooke as Trinculo, a jester, was most excellent. He, together with Stephano, a drunken butler, Mr. Walsworth Harris, were the central actors in the by-play bringing Caliban, the monster, into prominence. Ariel was gracefully enacted by Miss Edith Francis who was as fairy a sprite as could be imagined. Her dancing was most excellent and her graceful gestures more than captivated the audience.

The two leading parts, Prospero, and Caliban, the deformed monster, half human with the animal instincts, were taken by Mr. Warde and Mr. James. As Prospero, Mr. Warde made a most majestic duke. He was the solemn kindly forgiving magician who controlled the sprites of the island and by his magic power caused the tempest to rage. He was especially strong in his lines and while he did not follow the text of the book in several places his interpretation of Shakespeare's thoughts was excellent.

Mr. James, as Caliban, was the true misshapen being Shakespeare pictured him. With all the instincts of the beast and the form of a human being Caliban was the abomination of the sprites who answered Prospero's beck and call. He was the sullen, cringing beast that drank liquor for the first time when Stephano appeared with his jug and kissed the foot of his new king with all the reverence of a dog. He was so horrible and loathsome an appearing creature that even the false brother, Antonio, shrank from him.

As to the staging and scenic effects nothing but praise can be said. Waggonhals and Kemper have spared no money that the production might be a success and everything was most perfect. The company went from here to Oshkosh and Sunday next open for a week in Chicago at McVicker's theatre.

MADISON PLANS FOR A GALA DAY

Making Arrangements for Entertaining President Roosevelt on April 3.

Janesville people if they wish to see and near President Roosevelt must go to Madison or Milwaukee. The president and his special car will go flying through Janesville sometime after midnight of the second of April and will arrive in Madison at four the next morning. Here they will be entertained until ten, when he will go to Milwaukee to remain until twelve that night.

Our strenuous president will have but little rest when he follows out all the programmes laid out for him by ambitious committee men in the different towns and cities he will visit. Madison, headed by Mayor Groves, have planned for two speeches. One for the town folks and one for the students. Perhaps the president may like to follow out his plan and perhaps he may veto it. The committee will make the plans and Roosevelt will dispose.

Madison will be in gala attire for the occasion. Once when President Cleveland came to Madison as the guest of Senator Vilas the whole state poured into the city and it was jammed from cellar to turret. That was the time the venerable gentleman from Princeton erstwhile from Buffalo said "Whiskey is good enough for me."

President McKinley visited Madison twice. Once when he was a plain Major McKinley, famous as the originator of the McKinley tariff and the second time as president. Both times Madison turned out and assisted by the whole state entertained the chief executive of our country in fitting style.

The plans for the Roosevelt reception are not completed. This trip is due to the efforts of two United States senators and the fact it is to the Capitol City, Madison is favored, and it is an assured fact that the residents of the whole of southern Wisconsin need have no fear that the affair will not be properly attended to and that enthusiasm will not be lacking when some twenty-five hundred students are just aching for a chance to exercise their lungs and make the welkin ring with Uh-Rah-Uh-Uh Wisconsin, just to remind the president that there is some other college in the world beside his Alma Mater Harvard.

BIEDERWOLF HAS A FINE SINGER

PROF. STOUT WILL SING DURING REVIVAL SERVICES.

HAS MET WITH GREAT SUCCESS

Prof. B. A. Stout Said To Be a Man of Wonderful Voice and Impressive Method.

In the revival services of next week Rev. Biederwolf will have a powerful helper in Prof. B. P. Stout of Philadelphia. Mr. Stout is regarded as one of the most successful of the gospel singers of the present day. He is not only earnest and convincing, but is the possessor of a delightful voice of unusual range. The daily press of the city in which he has sung tell of the solemn, impressive hush which comes over his listeners when he sings.

Prof. Stout is an intimate friend of Miss Fannie Crosby, the blind hymn writer, and a large number of her compositions are among his favorites. He was the first to sing a number of her hymns to her after they were set to music. Numberless sources have been drawn upon by Prof. Stout to fill out his quota of evangelistic songs until he now has a collection of over one thousand, several of which are sung at each meeting.

During the month of December, 1902, Mr. Stout was engaged in his chosen work, as singing evangelist, in Massachusetts, in company with Rev. Asa Reed Ditts. His success was instantaneous. Those who would never have thought of attending the meetings for the sake of the preaching were nightly in attendance to hear his wonderful singing.

Rev. W. L. Smith, pastor of the First Congregational church, Bridge-water, Mass., in writing of the work of Mr. Stout, made the following comment:

"Prof. Stout is a gospel singer of great power. It is not too much to say that he captured the hearts of the people with his singing at the very start. His voice was rich, sweet, sympathetic, and of great compass. Every word can be understood. His enunciation is remarkable in a singer. His singing is whole-souled, and his heart is enlisted with his voice, and he sings not for applause, nor yet for display but to win the souls of men and women to Christ."

"Prof. Stout's personality is pleasing. He not only sang at all the meetings, but ably conducted the after meetings as well. The audiences at the very beginning of these services were large, and on Saturday evening filled to the utmost the great auditorium, which will comfortably seat fourteen hundred people."

At one time Prof. Stout conducted a series of meetings in Lowell, Mass. From that city he went to Lawrence, and the people of Lowell were so loath to leave off hearing him that they chartered regular cars on which a goodly people went to Lawrence each evening to hear him. In Lowell he was proclaimed one of the most effective gospel soloists living.

EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Mar. 19.—A large barn belonging to Ben Griffith, who lives near the old Ball tavern, three miles east of this city was struck by lightning and burned to the ground Monday evening. Fortunately all of the stock, including horses and cattle, that was in the barn was gotten out, but there was a heavy loss, feed and farm machinery. This is the second time lightning has struck on Mr. Griffith's premises, the former time the residence was injured. The loss is estimated at about $1,600, but is well covered by insurance.

F. G. Fuller, of Mukwanago, was in the city today on a visit to his numerous friends.

LOCAL BOWLERS BADLY BEATEN

Line City Players Add Another Scalp to Their Stock by 276 Pins.

Challenge was last evening issued by Messrs. Hockett and Gibson of this city to Messrs. Dorrbaker and Frost of Beloit, to bow a two-man match inter-city series. The latter gentlemen accepted the challenge, and final arrangements will be made in a day or two. Each match is to consist of seven games.

It has been quite conclusively proven that Janesville is not in a position this season to put up a five-man team which can contend with the Beloit bowlers. In each game it has been necessary to bring in new alternates, while the Line City five has been intact from the first of the series.

Some way or other the Janesville bowlers seem to be unable to win a victory from the Line City players. Several games have been played and each of them the Beloit players have been the victors. Last night they again added another scalp to their home city rejoicing.

The games were played at Hockett's alleys and a good sized audience watched the fast men from the southern city pile up the scores game after game. Their total number of pins for the three games was 2538 while the best Janesville could do was to mark up 2262, 276 behind their opponents.

The score is as follows:

Dorrbaker	193	165	148

HANDSOME FLAG GIVEN TO SCHOOL

Adams School Kindergarten Received a Beautiful Gift This Morning.

A handsome ten-foot American flag was presented this morning to the Adams school kindergarten. The flag will be used for decorating the room and was the gift of the mothers of the pupils of the school. The presentation was made by Rev. Robert C. Denison, in an appropriate speech, in which he portrayed the many great and good things of which the flag was an emblem.

APPENDICITIS

From the Osteopathic and Medical Standpoint.

At the meeting of the American Medical Association held at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., last June much time was spent in discussing the topic of appendicitis, and Dr. John B. Deaver, of Philadelphia, the most prominent specialist in appendicitis, in the United States, read a paper, in which he gave his experience in dealing with the disease in accordance with the radical rule of modern surgery. He said that he had operated on 416 cases, 279 were acute with a mortality rate of 15.3 per cent. 137 were chronic with mortality of 7 per cent. Yet, in the next breath, he urges immediate operation as soon as diagnosis is made. If the acute mortality rate in Dr. Deaver's own experience is 15.3 per cent, and the chronic 7, why would it not become advisable to allow them all to become chronic before operation, thereby lowering the mortality rate 100 per cent?

But a boy of radiant promise has appeared that shall dispell the gloom and shall lessen the fear at the approach of the dreaded malady. It has not emanated from the great lights of Vienna, Berlin, Edinburgh, New York or Chicago, but from the meek and lowly sage of Kirkville, Andrew Taylor Still. His child, osteopathy, challenges the world of medicine to compare notes in dealing with the disease.

In the last few days I have received reports from twenty-three cases of appendicitis treated by six osteopaths in this state (Ohio) and my own experience swells the number to thirty, every one of which fully recovered. Be it understood so that this number would have been increased fourfold if the many cases of pseudo-appendicitis, commonly diagnosed appendicitis by the regulars had been taken into account; only the genuine have been considered.

The above reports correspond closely to the reports of our leading institutions and our leading practitioners everywhere, so that it is an established fact that up to this time the mortality rate of appendicitis, treated osteopathically is so low as to render it practically nil. Our record thus far is one which we may well be proud of, and is due to the fact that the methods of dealing with appendicitis osteopathically are unique from every point. The osteopath has demonstrated to the world that it is more rational to remove the cause than to cut out the effect.

Osteopathy is willing to lock arms with very conservative surgery and apply it when positively needed, but she cannot keep step to any other tune than operation as a last resort.

1000 CLAIMS

Equal Not a Single Fact.—Janesville Endorsement Makes This Claim a Fact.

Endorsed by scores of Janesville's citizens who cheerfully make a public statement of their experience, is proof we have to back our claims that Doan's Kidney Pills cure every form of kidney ills, from a common backache to serious urinary disorders. Here is one local example. We have many more like it.

Mrs. N. J. Casey, of 109 Prairie ave., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills proved better than any other medicine I took for my kidneys. These organs troubled me off and on for many years. Backache was the chief symptom and often caused me to suffer severely. I tried a number of remedies but continued to grow worse instead of better. I was finally persuaded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and procured a box at the People's Drug Store. I only took them a few days when I felt better. Should there be any recurrence of my trouble I know what to use."

Of the vast quantities of butter marketed not over 50 per cent. it is claimed, reaches the consumer, or the dealer rather, in prime condition. Of course every butter maker aims to have his butter come on the market in good condition. He likes to have the commission men praise it and to see the return check marked 1 cent above extra. But, as stated by Mr. C. Larsen in an Iowa paper, it takes "care and skill to supply such a superior quality throughout the different seasons of the year. One point which will aid in keeping this high standard is to keep the temperature of the refrigerator constant and low. I know from experience that this is very often neglected. The icebox will be filled today. Tomorrow it may be missed, and before the next day the ice in the box will all have melted, and the refrigerator will have become warm and the butter soft and deteriorated in quality. Not only are such conditions favorable to the growth of undesirable ferments, but they are injurious to the texture of butter. When it hardens again, it will assume a salty and dull appearance which will detract from its salable qualities." It is because of this very condition that so many butter makers are now installing refrigerating machinery by means of which this irregular cooling is avoided. —Ice and Refrigeration.

Two Kinds.
Viewed from one standpoint, there are two different kinds of butter makers. There are the ones who know they do not know all they should know about what others know about the butter-making business and therefore take interest in conventions and dairy literature, and then there are those who do not know that there are many of us who know that while they think they know all there is to know about butter making there are several things others know which they do not know.

Be Careful With the Heifer.
Heifer calves should be handled very often to keep them gentle, and frequent manipulation of the udder during the first pregnancy will do much to stimulate development. This frequent handling of the udder is of no little importance, not only in securing its better development, but also to make the heifer so familiar with the operation that when her calf is dropped she will take the milking as a matter of course and will not require to be "broken."

..That Crest..

There is a restaurant keeper with a new and capacious place on the upper west side about whom a story is going the rounds, says the New York Times. This "mine host" makes no secret of the fact that when he arrived in America as a youth he had more fingers and toes than dollars, and that it is due to his own industry that he now can command his little army of cooks, waiters and other help. When he opened an addition to his rooms recently his friends were surprised to see a crest emblazoned conspicuously on various parts of the wall. The glassware also bears the crest. "I say, Pat," said a friend recently, "where did you get that crest?" "That belonged to a king of my name in Ireland," was the reply. "And I suppose you were once the royal family?" "Well, I don't know," was the confidential reply. "I looked it up in the Astor library. There were several hundred years to account for, but I thought I'd take a chance."

A Layman's Lenten Sermon.

Twentieth day of Lent; St. Mark vi 7-8.—And He called unto Him the twelve and began to send them forth two and two and gave them power over unclean spirits. And commanded them that they should take nothing for their journey save a staff only; no scrip, no bread, no money in their purse. Thus did our Lord send out His disciples to preach the gospel to the world. Equipped as it were only with their power over unclean spirits they went forth to teach mankind that Christ had come upon earth to save sinners and show unto them the way of righteousness and truth. Can we not learn a lesson from this? Can we not, living in this age and day, see that Christ meant that to succeed in life we must be dependent upon our own efforts and be dependent upon what we can ourselves earn and not look to aid and help from sources outside of our own selves?

We were put here on this earth, some more fortunate than others, to live our life as Christ taught us to do. We are born into this world with nothing and with nothing we leave it. We cannot take our accumulated riches away with us nor can we carry into the grave more than a good name and that we even leave behind us. This life is full of trouble and temptation and worry for us, but we can overcome it by our own persistent efforts and continual right doing. We are the children of the great father and when we transgress from the straight and narrow path we grieve Him as much as we grieve those who are near and dear to us.

We are put here on this earth of ours to perform some special mission whether we do it or not remains with ourselves. We can make our lives what we will. We are born without anything but the breath of life and while our surroundings have much to do with influencing our whole lives still we can overcome obstacles and be good true men and women as God would wish us. Christ told His disciples to go forth and preach His word to all nations. You have all heard the message. Have you heeded it?

INDIAN REMINISCENCES.

When the Europeans first entered the Delaware valley they found it occupied by tribes of Indians differing quite markedly from the aborigines of New England, for instance, says the Philadelphia Record. Their enlightened character may be surmised from the sensible way in which they met Penn's overtures and by the evidences of human handicraft found in this vicinity. They were generally known as the Lenapes or Delaware Indians and it is only recently that we have learned what a complicated nation it was.

The Lenapes did not consider themselves autochthonous to the country in which they were found by the first Europeans. On the contrary, they preserved a comparatively clear tradition of a not very remote immigration of the tribe into these parts. Two separate and independent versions of this tradition were preserved to us by Heckewelder and by Rappin. According to these traditions the Lenape lived originally in a distant country west or northwest, and much beyond the "Namsesl Sipu" (Mississippi). For some cause they undertook a long migration eastward. A part of the tribe, together with and much beyond the "Namsesl Sipu," conquered the "Alligewi," settled in towns to the east of the river, and for a long period occupied this and the adjacent country. The Lenape hunters eventually discovered the Susquehanna and then the ocean, the Delaware and Hudson rivers.

The date of the arrival of the Lenape in the Delaware valley can only be approximately arrived at and has been fixed at about 1387 or 1397. A number of Lenape subdivisions were settled along the Delaware and its affluents. This river was the favorite and was named by them Lenape-Whittuck, that is, the stream of the Lenape. The names of the chieftains along the Delaware have come down to us. Thus, the Nashamings are remembered in the beautiful Nashaminy creek. The Rankokas and the Assumpkins also are memorialized in the names of the streams, the banks of which were formerly their homes.

"THE MAXSMAN"
Great predictions are being made for James O'Neill's new play, "The Maxsman" which he has selected as the successor to "Monte Cristo"—the play on which perhaps the greatest fame rests, for it has held the boards for a longer time than any play ever presented on the American stage. Mr. O'Neill himself having appeared in it very close to five thousand times. "The Maxsman" is another of the Hall Caine plays, the Hall Caine-Wilson Barrett dramatization of which Mr. Barrett has kept locked up in his repertoire, for it is the strongest of all the strong plays he has, and he has long looked anxiously forward to the time when he could again return to America, when it was his intention to produce "The Maxsman" in his repertoire. The sudden success of his new play "The Christian King" will, however, keep him on the other side of the water, and this fact has afforded Liebler & Co. an opportunity to secure the American rights of "The Maxsman" for Mr. O'Neill's use.

While it is true that Mr. O'Neill's fame is so indissolubly linked with that of the hero of the famous Dumas novel, yet those who are best informed in regard to James O'Neill's professional career realize how unjust to him, and his reputation, that claim is. There was never a better Virgilian seen on the American stage than that of James O'Neill, and in this character he has appeared hundreds of times. Edwin Booth commended both his Othello and his Iago, and in the most flattering terms and did him the honor to alternate the two great characters with him, through a Chicago engagement which impressed itself strongly upon the memories of the theatre-going public of that city, through many years. Barry Sullivan followed Booth's example and frankly confessed O'Neill's Iago as one of the most meritorious impersonations he had ever witnessed. Charlotte Cushman selected Mr. O'Neill as her leading man and for two years he was her leading support, and only separated himself at the great actress' openly expressed regret. Adelaide Neilson always declared that no man ever attempted to play Romeo to her Juliet who could compare with O'Neill, and in the East and West, and out on the Pacific coast, he was recognized as one of the foremost actors of his time.

Why should an artist so capable, confine himself to the impersonation of a single character for so many years? In "The Maxsman" he has a part that is more worthy of him, and it is freely predicted that the new play will prove a sensation before the season ends. Mr. O'Neill, who has recently been playing in Philadelphia, has now a tour booked, when the West will be given an opportunity to see a truly great actor—really one of the very best now living, and in a play thoroughly worthy of his great talent.

THE LONGEST STRIKE.

"This investigation by congress of the local coal condition as the result of the recent anthracite coal strike reminds me of the longest strike of which I ever heard—or rather—I should say—of which I have ever known," said R. H. Rawlins of Concord, N. H., according to the Washington Star.

"Forty years ago when I was a boy living in Concord a man built a factory for the manufacture of sleds and wheelbarrows. It was a water power concern and I think the cost was about $20,000. When the forty employees had turned out about 100 wheelbarrows a difference of opinion arose between them and the boss. I cannot recall just what it was, but it was stated over and over in after years that it would have made a difference of less than a dollar a week to either side. The owner wouldn't give in and the men stood firm, small as the amount was and the strike took place—perhaps the first in New Hampshire. When the men walked out the owner told them they could go, but at the same time informed them he would see the factory rot to the ground before he would give in.

The reply of the men was that they would starve before they would yield and so the factory was closed up and the strike went on. A score of attempts were made to arbitrate but without avail. The owner grew old and gray and the hands died or dispersed and five years ago by personal investigation I found that only the owner and one of the strikers were left alive in Concord.

Knowing them both I had a talk with them about the strike, but both were still firm. I was in Concord again about a month ago and the last of the strikers was dead. The owner was hobbling about the streets on crutches with only a few months of life left. When I asked him if he intended to start up the factory again, "No," he said, "being as I have been a darn fool for forty years, I am going to keep it up the rest of my days."

THE ONE MILL TAX

The senate committee on assessment and collection of taxes, after a thorough discussion of the "Mill Tax Law," have submitted their report, signed by Senator Whitehead, who is chairman of the committee. The report covers the history of this obnoxious law, and a tabulated statement of receipts for sixteen years, from 1885 to 1902. This statement shows not only the gross receipts, but also furnishes a per capita basis. The first fourteen years of the term the per capita registered from 84 cents to $1.07, based on the school population of the state. In 1901 it increased to $1.33 and last year to $2.00.

The committee appreciated the foolishness and the weakness of this kind of financial and several members, including the chairman were in favor of adopting the governor's suggestion, as contained in his message and raise by tax a specified sum which would be covered by an itemized budget, and which would amount to about $700,000.

The majority, however, were opposed to innovations, and after exhausting every argument, a compromise was effected on a seventh mill basis. This will create a school fund of about $1,000,000, but the bill provides that $350,000 of this amount shall come from the license fund, so that practically the tax is reduced to about a half mill so far as effecting real and personal property is concerned.

This is an improvement and while the principle surrounding the visionary scheme is not changed, results will be less disastrous.

A good deal of foolish sentiment exists about this law, and it is claimed that the prosperous counties in the southern part of the state, can well afford to contribute freely to the poorer counties in the north.

That is the thinnest argument that any man ever submitted to paper. Assessment of property, whether in the north or south, is based on valuation. An acre of Rock county land assessed $40 pays as much tax as forty acres of stumpage assessed at $1 per acre. These may not be exact figures, but they are near enough to illustrate the point.

If this money from all parts of the state flows into one common treasury where it belongs, and school bills as well as all other bills paid from it, there will be no cause for complaint about the poor counties paying too much taxes.

Senator Whitehead, after going over the ground very carefully, thus summarizes the new bill which will doubtless become a law.

Section 2 of the proposed bill reads as follows:

"There is added to the statutes a new section to be numbered and to read as follows: Section 107a. There is appropriated annually to the common school fund income an amount equal to seven-tenths of one mill for each dollar of the assessed valuation of the taxable property of the state, as determined by the state board of assessment, exclusive of the property of the corporations which pay license fees, or which are assessed for taxation by a state board of assessment, to be derived annually as follows: Three hundred and fifty thousand dollars from the license fees or taxes paid by said corporations, and the balance from a tax which shall be levied on all other taxable property. The appropriation hereby made shall be disbursed in the manner and under the conditions and restrictions provided for the disbursement of the common school fund income. Before and during the preparation of this bill, the attention of the committee was directed again and again to the question of inequality in the distribution of this tax among the counties of the state. The wealthy counties have been subjected to a heavy burden as the presentation made in the tables found on pages 46 and 47 of the report of the tax commission clearly shows.

The diversion from the general fund to the school fund of an amount deemed likely to equal that which would be raised under the law in excess of the limit recommended by the tax commission, is in accord with the plan contained in section 350 of the statutes, by virtue of which the university fund income is increased. Thus a measure of relief will be afforded to the counties which have made a strong protest against the operation of the mill tax law, and, at the same time, the school fund income will not be depleted below a point which a majority of the members of the committee fixed as the limit below which they were unwilling to have the amount of the tax reduced.

The committee have carefully considered this bill, and they recommend that it be placed upon the calendar and that it do pass.
JOHN M. WHITEHEAD,
 Chairman.

SUGAR YIELD IN RUSSIA

Consul-General W. R. Holloway reports from St. Petersburg, December 1, 1902:

The yield of beet roots for the fiscal year ended November 1, 1902, according to statements of the Ministry of Finance, is 537,617,730 pounds (8,741,589 tons), or 7.13 per cent. more than for the same period last year; but owing to a cold and rainy season, 21 per cent. of the total amount remains unharvested. The beet roots are of a higher quality than those of last year in the southwestern and central region, and inferior in the Vistula region.

A circular published in the Messenger of the Government estimates the production of white sugar at Russian works for the six months ended October 25, 1902, at 73,727,706 pounds (1,193,824 tons) which includes 7,011,528 pounds (114,496 tons) surplus of the previous period. In accordance with the decree of July 3, 1902, 43,000,000 pounds (699,187 tons) must be stored in reserve, thus allowing only 30,000,000 pounds (499,637 tons) to be placed on the Russian market. It is further ordered that 54 per cent. of the total production be deducted, allowing 11 per cent. for the intangible reserve and 43 per cent. for the marketable reserve. The sugar refiners are to be instructed accordingly.

The Consul-General's report indicates that Russia devotes about 1,000,000 acres of land to sugar beet culture. Germany is undoubtedly in the lead, and while the industry is in its infancy in the United States the rapid strides being made in the way of development indicate that in a decade foreign countries will be rivaled, and passed in the race.

The beet industry is a Godsend to agricultural districts, where the soil for the past quarter of a century has been crowded to the limit of production. It means practically causing two blades of grass to grow where one grew before. This means not only increased production, but it means largely increased valuation, and that means adding to permanent wealth.

It is frequently said that the men who open up a new country securing land at a nominal government price, make their money very largely by selling their holdings at an advance in value. There is, however, a limit to these advances, and counties like Rock, reached the limit many years ago.

The second generation does not share in these advances unless by some outside means the land can be made more productive. The sugar beet comes to the rescue and renders it possible for the farmer boy of today to make money in the rise of land, very much as his father did before him. This is an age of golden opportunities, and the prizes are well distributed.

The prominent shippers of the state who favor fair play for the railroads are accused by a cheap writer on the Milwaukee organ of belonging to a class of favored shippers. This is another contemptible effort to arouse prejudice and class hatred. The writer knows it to be absolutely false.

The peoples ticket appears to meet with approval. If the men named are elected, the city may be assured of good government.

Every friend of good government should be a friend of every other man who favors it. There should be no contest or division of sentiment in the coming campaign.

PRESS COMMENTS

Green Bay Gazette: One of the strongest arguments yet made for the admission of those southwestern territories as states is the fact that we will soon need them to name battleships after.

Eau Claire Leader: There has been enough said and to spare about the primary election bill. The truth is often sacrificed by too much disputation.

Marquette Eagle: A German scientist has discovered two million microbes in one box of straw berries, but neglects to state whether it was a winter size box or a June size.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Things are mighty uncertain in this world.

Even a little thing like an epidemic of the grip may make a good deal of difference with the plans of the state senate regarding the primary and taxation bills.

Oshkosh Times: Senator Morgan says his opposition to the canal treaty is made for the reason that he wants the good opinion of posterity. But he surely cannot expect to keep on speaking until posterity hands in the opinion.

St. Louis Globe Democrat: Criticisms were hurled at the governor of West Virginia for putting 40,000 words into his message. Senator Morgan can put more than that in a parenthesis.

Evening Wisconsin: From appearances, the new Milwaukee charter will, when amended, constitute permission for almost every official to ride his own particular hobby.

Milwaukee News: After all, it's not strange that the United States senate is getting tired of hearing itself talk.

Typography of the New York Daily Region.

The United States Geological Survey has just issued a map representing a portion of Chenango county in middle southern New York. This map, which is called the Norwich atlas sheet, is the product of a topographic work carried on by the state engineer and surveyor of New York and the United States Geological Survey. The area represented includes the thriving city of Norwich and the towns of Smyrna and Plymouth as well as portions of towns of North Norwich, Sherburne, Otsego, Pharsalia, McDonough and Preston. A narrow strip of the southern part of Madison county, including parts of the towns of Hamilton, Lebanon and Georgetown, appears on the northern part of the sheet.

The country covered by this atlas sheet belongs to one of the best dairy sections in the United States. The exceedingly attractive valley of Chenango river traverses the quadrangle from north to south. At one time the products of Norwich and vicinity reached Utica on the north and Binghamton on the south by the now almost obliterated Chenango canal, whose place is occupied by the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad. The valleys of Canasawata Creek and its east branch are interesting as having been occupied years ago by a railroad connecting Norwich and Deruyter.

The country is very hilly and the scenery is picturesque, but through the easy grades of the main valleys the region is easily traversed by roads, railroads and canals which afford good transportation facilities. The character of the topography, which is mapped on the scale of one mile to an inch, is well brought out by contour lines drawn through points of equal elevation. By these lines it is easy to pick out the elevation above sea level of any particular house, as well as of the hills about it. It thus appears that the highest land on the sheet is in the extreme northwest corner, where it rises to 2000 feet above sea level, and that the lowest is in the extreme southeast portion, by Norwich, where the elevation is only 1000 feet.

The map is for sale by the Director of the United States Geological Survey for the nominal price of five cents a copy.

Notwithstanding the fact that state hood and other matters have tied the senate of the United States into several parliamentary hard knots and that such masterly political leaders as Quay, Aldrich and Beveridge have a firm grasp on the respective protruding ends, Senator Hoar of Massachusetts, the venerable and learned chairman of the judiciary committee of that body, says the Washington Star, showed what he could do in the way of passing legislation with a result which will undoubtedly remain at the head of the list of "feats" for some time to come.

Senator Hoar with all solemnity and great composure divided the territory of Alaska into three judicial districts, so far as the senate is concerned, by calling up under unanimous consent and securing the passage of a bill for that purpose. The senator with great observation, had the bill amended so as to make it operative June 13, 1903, notwithstanding the ill luck he might have read in that fatal "13." All of this happened two days ago. Yesterday it was discovered that the very same bill had passed both house and senate and received the signature of the president, and has been since that time a part of the statutes of the United States.

Members of the house are having great sport in calling attention to this lapse on the part of the senator from Massachusetts, and the explanation generally goes with the story that the senator has exhausted himself in drafting his recent anti-trust bill and the speech which went with that measure. At any rate the house considers that it was "one" on the senate.

The Policeman's Complaint.

Last winter Miss Alice Roosevelt was compelled by her delicate health to decline many social invitations, but this season she is making up for lost time. The other morning about 2 o'clock a solitary policeman was parading near the west gate of the white house. The rain was coming down in torrents and to cheer himself the officer was humming, "Alice, Where Art Thou?" A passer-by halted him. "Oh, Miss Alice is out again," said the policeman, "and I have to wait until she comes home, for this gate can never be closed till all the family are in the house. More's the pity, she's out nearly every night now."

Religion for Eastern Peoples.

Bishop Partridge of Kiota is quoted as saying that there must be an oriental type of Christianity, just as there is an occidental, and that the Protestant Episcopal church of America cannot be transplanted to Japan.

Astounded the Duchess.

According to a London weekly the duchess of Marlborough is astounded at the extravagance displayed by New York society during her present visit to relatives there. Especially was she amazed at the splendor of an entertainment given in Newport by the wife of her kinsman, Cornelius Vanderbilt, who brought an entire company over from New York to amuse her guests one evening.

Business Meeting
The meeting was called to order
by the president of the association,
F. P. Starr, and Clerk Fisher read the call for the convention. The minutes of the last convention held in Rockford in March 19, 1902, when the picnic was awarded to Janesville were read and approved.

On motion of C. E. Whalen of Madison a committee on credentials consisting of C. E. Whalen, U. G.
Waite and J. A. Love was appointed by President Starr, to examine the credentials presented by the delegates and report at the afternoon session. A draft of the constitution of the association was presented by President Starr, and left until afternoon for discussion. The president then announced that at 12 o'clock a banquet would be served to the delegates at the West Side Odd Fellows' hall, under the supervision of the Royal Neighbors and requested that all delegates be at the assembly room at 12 o'clock to attend the banquet. A recess was then taken until 2 o'clock.

Elegant Banquet
The west side hall was handsomely decorated with flowers and Woodmen emblems in honor of the occasion. There, the delegates seated at long tables, were given a two-course banquet such as the Royal Neighbors are famous for. After they had satisfied the cravings of the inner man, President Starr, acting as toastmaster, announced the following program:

1. Selection Orchestra
2. Address of Welcome
3. Reading Miss Pearl Willey
4. Our Visitors Rev. J. T. Henderson
5. Selection Orchestra
6. Man's Duty to His Home

7. Fraternity M. G. Jeffris
8. Reading Miss Pearl Willey
9. Our Order Chas. E. Whalen

The responses to the toasts were necessarily brief, but were of a nature that excited hearty applause on the part of the delegates.

At the close of the banquet the delegates re-assembled at the city hall where the business of the afternoon was taken up.

Will Raise Funds
Last night there was some doubt as to Janesville having the picnic
this year on account of the committee not meeting with the success
they anticipated in raising the money necessary to defray the expenses of holding it. They were then about $400 short of the amount necessary, but an active canvass of the business houses was made this morning and enough new subscriptions secured to practically settle the question although the full amount necessary is still a few dollars shy.

Madison Next
By an unanimous vote this afternoon Madison was chosen as the site for the next picnic for 1904. Governor La Follette wrote a personal letter inviting them and the convention accepted with cheers.

FATHERS' REPORT ON CITY MONEY

CITY TREASURER'S ANNUAL RE-PORT IS NOW READY.

GOES INTO MINUTE DETAILS

Every Cent Received and Paid Out
by Him Is Carefully Accounted For.

The annual report of City Treasurer Fathers has been made out and is ready for publication. It is directed to the mayor and common council, but is full of interesting facts to the general public just at this time when so much has been said of the use that the city funds have been put to. The report is from March 1, 1902, to March 1, 1903.

School Fund
The receipts for the school fund amounted to $51,266.61. The expenditures recorded are four thousand and dollars for city notes 61 and 65 and $27,229.92 for orders. This leaves a balance of $3,673 in the treasury.

General Fund
In the general fund $11,190 and paid on notes and orders, $109,228.32 leaving a balance in the treasury of $1,962.32.

Fire and Water Fund
This fund received $25,217.00 and has a balance left of $953.50. On March 1 last year the balance was $966.35.

Library Fund
But one expenditure of $32.00
is set against the receipts of the library fund amounting to $5,274.25,
which leaves a balance of $2,010.87.

Building Fund
This fund received two gifts, one of thirty thousand from Andrew Carnegie and one of $5,000 from the estate of the late F. S. Eldred. All but $1,551.13 has been expended during the past twelve months.

Small Funds
The lighting fund has had $215.00
and has spent all but $9,005.30.
The bridge fund had $7,018.19 and has $366.38 left. The Memorial day fund had $75 and has the same sum left.

Ward Funds
In the wards the first has $374.97
left out of $1,564.21. The second, $12.63 out of $2,836.71. The third, $31.81 from $4,200.52. The fourth,
$447.18 out of $2,037.40, and the fifth $124.69 from $2,700.57.

Court and Otherwise
Then follows funds raised from the municipal court, judgment, and tax levy. These with the expenditures or transfers to other funds are all set down carefully. In the recapitulation the report shows that the city has a total of $31,647.33 in the treasury left.

REPAIR TRACKS
ALONG THE LINE

Gangs at Work on the Interurban
Roadbed Near the Line
City.

Seventy-five Greeks, employed by the R. B. & J. road, have begun resurfacing the tracks of that line. At present they are working in Illinois, just south of Beloit, but as soon as their work is completed in that direction they will transfer their base of operations to the tracks north of the Line City.

Alternate freezing and thawing
throughout the winter have left several stretches of track in rough condition, and added to the expected settling of the grading with use, leaves enough surfacing to be done
to occupy the labors of the workmen until the time when the company hopes to be able to begin operations on an extension in the direction of the Capitol City.

OLIVE BRANCH HAS ISSUED DIRECTORY

Lodge No. 36, A. O. U. W. Publishes List of Officers and Members,
for the Vest Pocket.

For the convenience of its members, and as an aid in securing additions to its numbers, Olive Branch Lodge, No. 36, A. O. U. W., has issued a vest pocket directory for 1903, copies of which have been circulated within the past few days. To cover the cost of publication the alternate pages are covered with advertising. The balance of the little book is devoted to matters of interest to the members of the lodge.

Introductory to the directory proper is given a general outline of the Ancient Order of United Workmen, and its work, under such heads as,
Its Missions, Its Principles, Its Plan,
Its Self Government, The Subordinate Lodge, Supreme Lodge, Its International Organization, etc.

Following this is given a list of the officers of Olive Branch Lodge, No. 36, and the time and place of the regular meetings. A complete list of members, both local and out of town, is then given, occupying thirteen pages of the booklet. A list of deceased members follows, the remainder of the directory being devoted to a firm alarm card and memoranda pages.

ra Bingham was held yesterday afternoon at one o'clock from her late largely attended by neighbors and friends from all parts of the county, who gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased. The casket was almost buried beneath the beautiful floral offerings sent by sorrowing relatives and friends.

The interment was at Otter Creek

NOTED CASE IN SUPREME COURT

Suit of Ann Collins Against the City
Is Soon to Have Hearing.

The case of Ann Collins against the city of Janesville will be argued tomorrow in the supreme court on an appeal on the part of the city from the judgment of $800 recovered by Miss Collins last fall. This case has been running in the courts since 1895 and has already been tried four times in the circuit court and three times in the supreme court.

Miss Collins was successful in obtaining a judgment in the circuit court each time the case was tried,
but the supreme court has reversed
the judgment of the lower court
three times on the grounds of excessive damages being excessive.

Miss Collins claims to have been injured by a fall on a defective sidewalk on Cherry street and has never fully recovered from the effects of the accident. The action has been in the courts for so long a time that the lawyers' fees and costs now amount to more than her judgment.

BELOIT COLLEGE HAS GOOD GAMES

Will Meet Chicago, Michigan and Wisconsin on the Gridiron.

Beloit college football players and college men in general are rejoicing over the schedule thus far arranged for the coming gridiron contests.
Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota are all to be played and arrangements are even pending for a game on November 7, with Chicago. This places the little Congregational team on the same footing as the university team for large games and gives it a good rank among western colleges for hard schedules.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

filed with the clerk of the circuit court in the case of Helen Busdick against Fred Busdick, granting the

WARM WEATHER SURPRISES MANY

OLD RESIDENT SAYS IT IS EARLI-EST IN 35 YEARS.

THE SAP STARTS RUNNING

Weather Man, However, Predicts
That It Will Be Colder,
and Snow.

Yesterday was a scorcher for March. One old inhabitant said that for thirty four years he had never seen the weather so warm. He spring like in the windy month. He was sure that winter was over and overcoats would not be wanted again.

The soft maples must have thought that June was on them without any warning for they fairly bubbled over trying to force the sap up to the tops of the boughs and the small boys were jubilant over the fact that the empty tomato can caught just as much sap as it did when Grandpa was a boy and used to go sugaring bees up in the Maine woods.

Birds Sing
The robins, too, seem to rejoice in the sudden change and hopped about watching for early grub worms to make an appearance. One lady was ready to take a solemn oath she saw five flies in her pantry where she had put some fresh cooked cake and was sure that her husband ought to find some time to put the screens up before he went to bed. Rock river also seemed to feel the influence of the warm winds, and the way the water piled over the dam and rushed down stream showed that every little tributary was sending its share of water down to help swell the onrushing tide towards the Mississippi.

The weather man, however, thinks otherwise and predicts that it will be rainy and colder inside of twenty-four hours.

CHAS. SUTHERLAND
WINS APPOINTMENT

Gets the Position of Intern at the Cook County Hospital, in Class Competition.

Dr. and Mrs. O. D. Sutherland are rejoicing today over the appointment of their son, Charles H. Sutherland, to the position of Intern at Cook County hospital.

The appointment was by competitive examination among the five homeopathic colleges. There were six applicants and Charles Sutherland won the first position.

There is great rivalry among the colleges for these positions and to win one is the greatest honor that can be conferred upon a student.

This gives him an eighteen months'
service in Cook County hospital.

Mr. Sutherland's many friends in this city will be pleased to hear of his success in his studies and that he was able to secure the appointment.

Mrs. Minerva Lee
The funeral of the late Mrs. Minerva Lee was held yesterday afternoon from the home of her son, 203 South Academy street. Reverend J. H. Tippet officiated and the song service was rendered by Mrs. Charline Hawley and Mrs. Fannie Clark.

The interment was at Oak Hill, the pall bearers Howard, Richard and John Lee, sons of the deceased, and Harvey, Lee, a grandson.

LAW DECISIONS

Monopolies—Trade Agreement. A statute of Missouri provides that all contracts or combinations to lessen free competition in the manufacture or sale of any article within the state are against public policy, and the parties thereto shall be adjudged of conspiracy to defraud and another statute declares that any purchase of any article from any individual or corporation, transacting business contrary to the first statute shall not be liable for the price of such article and may plead such section as a defense to any suit for such price. Held, that an agreement between brewers in a certain city that they would not sell beer to any who was in debt for beer previously purchased, to either of the others, until he paid such debt, was an agreement in violation of the statute, and was therefore a complete defense to an action by one of such brewers to recover the price of beer sold. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Missouri, Judge Ellison) 691.

Newspapers—Publication of Evidence. Under the bill of rights in a state constitution guaranteeing freedom of speech and the liberty of the press, and under a statute guaranteeing to an accused a speedy trial by an impartial jury, a trial judge, in a prosecution for murder, involving no question of obscenity, has no power to prohibit the publication of evidence given at such trial. The act of a judge in punishing a newspaper proprietor for contempt of court in violating an order prohibiting publication of the testimony was without jurisdiction and consequently void. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Texas, Judge Henderson) 593.

Husband and Wife—Purchase of Goods. A wife having separated from her husband, purchased certain goods on credit from one having no notice of the separation. There had been no previous course of dealing between the seller and the wife which would authorize him to believe that the husband had consented to such purchases. Held, that the mere failure of the husband to give notice of the separation would not render him liable, it not appearing that the goods were necessities. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Texas, Judge Fisher) 605.

Bankruptcy—Debts Discharged. A judgment obtained by a wife against another woman for damages sustained by the wife by reason of the alienation of the affections of her husband, is not released by the Pacific discharge of the defendant under proceedings in bankruptcy, where such alienation has been accomplished by schemes and devices of the defendant, and resulted in the loss of support and impairment of health to the wife. 71 Pacific Rep. (Kansas, Judge Cunningham) 319.

Life Insurance—Payment of Premiums. A provision in a life insurance policy that the premiums shall be paid at or before 12 o'clock noon on certain days, and, if not, that the policy shall cease and determine, is valid. The fact that a policy dated April 25 is not delivered until five days later furnishes no excuse for the premiums not being paid on the days specified in the policy. 71 Northwestern Rep. 1032.

Street Railways—Passengers. Where a street car conductor stopped his car for two ladies to get off, and after one got off, but before the other had done so, some one not in the employ of the railway company nor with the authority or knowledge of the conductor gave the motorman the signal to start, and he did so, throwing the second lady to the ground, there was no negligence on the part of the railway company and such passenger could not recover from the company for the injury sustained. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Missouri, Judge Broadus) 712.

Sunday Laws—Barber Shops. A statute prohibiting generally the keeping open on Sunday of any place of business for the purpose of transacting business therein, is not as applied to a barber shop, unconstitutional, being an undue restraint of personal liberty, and depriving a person of life, liberty and property without due process of law, but is a proper exercise of the police power of the state. The statute is not constitutional as special legislation based on an arbitrary classification, excepting from such prohibitive hotels, boarding houses, restaurants, livery stables, retail drug stores, and such manufacturing establishments as are usually kept in constant operation. The keeping open for business on Sunday of a barber shop connected with a hotel is not a work of necessity. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Utah, Judge Hart) 482.

Highways—Injuries to Pedestrians. Where defendant drove his horse, attached to a delivery wagon, at a fast trot through the city streets on which a number of school children were walking, and while looking around at some boys who were jumping on the rear of the wagon, care over plaintiff, a child six years old, lawfully using the street, he was guilty of negligence, justifying a verdict for the injuries sustained. 71 Pacific Rep. (California, Judge Cooper) 511.

Railroads—Expulsion of Passengers. A railroad ticket containing a full and unambiguous printed contract, signed in ink by the purchaser, that it should expire on the date shown by punch marks on its margin, is conclusive evidence of the contract between the passenger and the railroad as to the time the ticket continues in force. In an action against the railroad for his expulsion from the train, brought by a passenger who purchased a ticket of the character mentioned, he cannot be permitted to show that the ticket agent at the time of sale made statements contradictory of the contract contained in the ticket. 71 Pacific Rep. (Kansas, Judge Burch) 526.

Jurors—Discussion in Jury Room. Where it was proved that during the deliberations of the jury in a criminal case, while they were attempting to agree on a penalty one of the jurors asked what sentence the defendant had received on a prior trial, and another juror stated that he heard it was 15 years, and acting upon this information the punishment was assessed at 15 years the conviction will be reversed for misconduct of the jury. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Texas, Judge Brooks) 964.

Lottery—What Constitutes. Where the owner of a horse and buggy of less than $500 value sells the entire number of 200 tickets, numbered 1 to 200 consecutively, for as many cents each as the number borne thereby, and the purchasers then shake dice among themselves to determine which of them shall have the whole property, the proceeding constitutes a lottery, and it is not the establishment of a lottery to dispose of the horse and buggy, for which the owner would be indisputable. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Texas, Judge Henderson) 974.

Patent—Misuse Of. Everything is useful within the meaning of law, if it is used or designed and adapted to be used to accomplish a good result, though it is in fact often used, or is as well or even better adapted to be used than to accomplish a bad one. Held, that a patent on bogus coin detectors, which have been used exclusively to cheat gambling machines is not void for want of utility. 35 Chicago Legal News, 221.

DOULTRY

Growing Early Chicks. From Farmers' Review: At this time of year upon the average farm this vocation is little thought of, but with the introduction of the incubator and artificial brooding system, many of our wide-awake farmers are beginning to realize that there is a good profit in growing a bunch of broilers for the early market as well as getting a stock of early matured pullets for next winter's egg production. The main requisite to be considered at this time is whether the laying stock which we have on hand is in proper condition to furnish us with well formed, fertile eggs. If they have been well housed and cared for during the cold weather, there is little question as to their ability to furnish eggs containing the proper amount of stamina to promote the growth and form of a hatched chick. However, if the fowls have been allowed to roost in trees and open sheds over the farm machinery and allowed to wade about in the snow and frost all winter there is little use of the farmer thinking of competing with his more faithful neighbor in the broiler trade, for such hens will not lay any eggs until warm weather is well along.

Although we use an incubator in hatching we have found it doubly profitable at this time of year to set a few hens along with the machine, taking a portion of them to hatching early hatched chicks.

We do not give the hen more than thirteen eggs at this season, as more than that taxes her animal temperature too greatly and she is not as likely to hatch as large a per cent of her eggs.

As soon as she is set we arrange to feed each of them all the shelled corn they will eat with plenty of water, charcoal and shells. This promotes their condition and induces plenty of animal heat and gives off the required conditions of temperature to induce a successful hatch. Nest boxes that are intended for early hatching must be lined with plenty of dry chaff and placed in protected quarters, away from drafts of cold air and severe weather. It is quite embarrassing to attempt to care for a flock of chicks in a heavy spring snowstorm, and unless a good, roomy poultry house is at hand little can be done at raising early chicks. We have on our farm a nicely ventilated, warmly built poultry house 14x56 feet, where we can allow our early chicks to pass by the stormiest of weather, regardless of outward conditions.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE PEOPLE'S DRUG CO.

Offer to Refund Money if Hyomel Does Not Cure Catarrh.

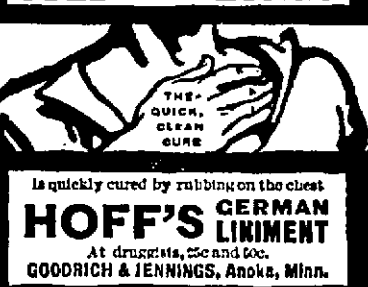

To the Editor of the Gazette. We have been asked recently if the advertisements printed in your columns regarding Hyomel were true, where we offer to refund the money if this treatment does not cure catarrh. We wish you would please print this letter in as conspicuous a place as possible in your paper, saying that we absolutely agree to refund the money to any purchaser of a Hyomel outfit, if it does not cure catarrh.

This outfit consists of an inhaler of convenient size to be carried in the vest pocket so that the user can breathe Hyomel air four or five times daily. With this is included a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomel. The outfit sells for $1.00 and is a most economical treatment for the inhaler lasts a lifetime and there is enough Hyomel for more than a month's use, while the extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

We trust this communication will settle any doubts that may have arisen as to our willingness to refund the money for a Hyomel outfit, in case the purchaser is not satisfied.

We wish to say emphatically that our guarantee on Hyomel holds good and we will refund the money to any dissatisfied purchaser who simply states that he has used the treatment according to directions and not been helped. Respectfully yours, People's Drug Co.

THE CHILDREN ENJOY

Life out of doors and out of the games which they play and the enjoyment which they receive and the efforts which they make, comes the greater part of that healthful development which is so essential to their happiness when grown. When a laxative is needed the remedy which is given to them to cleanse and sweeten and strengthen the internal organs on which it acts, should be such as physicians would sanction, because its component parts are known to be wholesome and the remedy itself free from every objectionable quality. The one remedy which physicians and parents, well-informed, approve and recommend and which the little ones enjoy, because of its pleasant flavor, its gentle action and its beneficial effects, is—Syrup of Figs—and for the same reason it is the only laxative which should be used by fathers and mothers.

Syrup of Figs is the only remedy which acts gently, pleasantly and naturally without griping, irritating, or nauseating and which cleanses the system effectually, without producing that constipated habit which results from the use of the old-time cathartics and modern imitations, and against which the children should be so carefully guarded. If you would have them grow to manhood and womanhood, strong, healthy and happy, do not give them medicines, when medicines are not needed, and when nature needs assistance in the way of a laxative, give them only the simple, pleasant and gentle—Syrup of Figs.

Its quality is due not only to the excellence of the combination of the laxative principles of plants with pleasant aromatic syrups and juices, but also to our original method of manufacture and as you value the health of the little ones, do not accept any of the substitutes which unscrupulous dealers sometimes offer to increase their profits. Please to remember, the full name of the Company—CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.—is printed on the front of every package. In order to get its beneficial effects it is always necessary to buy the genuine only. For sale by all reliable druggists.

Danderine

GREW THIS HAIR.

This Lady started with a 25c bottle.

MISS SARAH MACCOMB, 5356 50th AVE. CHICAGO.

FRANCES MARIE KNOWLTON, AGE 24 MONTHS.

MISS MAY DENSMORE, 34 DELAWARE PL. CHICAGO.

Miss Sarah MacComb, whose hair touches the floor when she stands erect, says: "My hair would not reach below my waist when I commenced using Danderine, and it is now over five feet in length." (Look at her beautiful hair and judge for yourself whether or not she got the worth of her money.)

The above photograph of Miss Frances Marie Knowlton shows what care, persistence and a good hair invigorating tonic will do in the way of producing hair. This little girl has had Danderine applied to her hair and scalp regularly ever since she was three months of age, with the result that she now has the longest and most beautiful head of hair ever possessed by a child of her age. Frances Marie is the daughter of Dr. E. W. Knowlton, the discoverer of Danderine, 300 Garfield boulevard, Chicago. The doctor says that her hair continues to grow very rapidly and he is sure it will be long enough to touch the floor when she stands erect by the time she is four years old.

Miss May Densmore, now the longest-haired lady in the world, says: "I have used your Danderine two years, and my hair has grown over an inch in length every month since I commenced its use. It surely contains most remarkably invigorating qualities." (Miss Densmore writes us under recent date that Danderine had made her hair grow three feet longer than it was naturally, and is still growing.)

$1,000 will be given to anyone who proves that the above photographs and testimonials are not absolutely genuine and unsolicited.

PRETTY SUBSTANTIAL PROOF OF MERIT I IS IT NOT?
